REGINALD F. LEWIS SCHOLARS

A Curated Educational Experience

UNIVERSITY OF
LOUISIANA
SYSTEM

FOR YOUR FUTURE. FOR OUR FUTURE.

Reginald F. Lewis Scholars is a cohort program designed to enhance the collegiate experience of Black males across the UL System. The program recruits Black male students and provides educational programs, mentoring opportunities and co-curricular experiences.

Goals of the program:

- Strengthen the secondary-to-higher education pipeline to enable more Black male students to attend college;
- Increase admission, persistence and graduation rates across the UL System;
- Improve the social, academic and financial support structures for Black male students;
- Facilitate and promote mentoring development; and
- Improve employment prospects for Black males after graduation.

Academic Experience

Supports the pursuit of academic excellence through research and study abroad opportunities.

Community Experience

Develops knowledge and skills through annual service learning projects and by partnering with the System's Management & Leadership Institute.

Social Experience

Strengthens the scholars' social and network capital through mentorship and the annual scholars retreat.
